Learn to market your business with a website

TOMS RIVER - Ocean County Library will offer business owners the tools to help them promote their business and increase their visibility on the Internet.

The Toms River branch will host "Market your Business with a Website" at 11 a.m. Wednesday March 11.

The program will teach the key features of a successful website and present search engine optimization tips to better position your website and its ranking when people look for you on the Internet.

The program is free and open to the public but registration is required. To register telephone the branch operator at 732-349-6200 or 609-971-0514, or go to the library website www.theoceancountylibrary.org, select the "Events and News" drop-down menu and then click on the "Calendar of Events" icon.

A light lunch will be provided to the business owners who attend the program.
