Ocean County Library Unveils Two Free Collectibles Databases

TOMS RIVER - The Ocean County Library adds two online research tools for antiques and collectibles to a growing lineup of free resources available on its website, www.theoceancountylibrary.org on Friday, July 21.

Maloney's Antiques and Collectibles Directory helps users find collectors, dealers, experts, auction houses, restoration or grading services, and appraisers. Information is available on thousands of categories of antiques and collectibles such as historical artifacts, ornaments, toys, glassware and more. Maloney's Directory is available at home, on the go, and at all library locations.

Kovels, is your guide to the world of antiques and collectibles. This database, accessible at any Ocean County Library location, allows unlimited access to research tools that will help you identify, date and value your collectibles. In-house users can also access Kovels' award-winning monthly publication, "Kovels on Antiques and Collectibles," filled with tips, hotlines, sale reports and more.
